Notes

This is a lot to take in at one go and candidates are advised to do some preparatory study, for example by learning the sequence of techniques for the gonosen no kata. The kata will be covered on the assumption that candidates are familiar with most of the individual throws in the kata.

Exams will be for all theory grades up to and including 5th dan. Candidates may enter whichever parts of the exam they feel ready for. They are advised not to enter the whole exam unless very thoroughly prepared.

It would be advisable, although not essential, to arrange an uke in advance. Players may be asked in the spirit of judo to uke for other candidates.

Players may only take elements for ONE grade on the day (that is, they cannot be examined for both 1st dan and 2nd dan) and MUST be the grade below the theory they wish to take, including a minimum grade of 1st kyu for 1st dan theory.
